

From Diagnosis Towards A Developmental And Relational Approach To Borderline Personality Disorder

How Integrative psychotherapists work with clients with a diagnosis of Borderline Personality Disorder.

The research

I work from a relational and developmental perspective and am interested in how other Integrative psychotherapists work with clients who present with a diagnosis of Borderline Personality Disorder (BPD).

About me: I am an accredited therapist in private practice and studying for an MSc in Integrative Psychotherapy with The Sherwood Psychotherapy Institute in Nottingham, UK.

About you: I am wanting to interview qualified psychotherapists with experience of working with clients who have a diagnosis of BPD.

When: Interviews from July 2020.

Where: Nottingham city centre, online via video, or at another mutually agreeable location.
